RAILROAD INTERESTS.

NO TIME CONTRACTS AT CUT RATES.

HOW THE TRANSCONTINENTAL FIGHT STANDS-DE-NYING FALSE RUMORS.

There has been no radical change in the transcentinental rate situation since the freight rates drifted down to 75 cents per 100 pounds on first-class and 50 cents on the lower grades from New-York to San Francisco, The only lines remaining in the fight are the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway and the "Sunset" route. Contrary to rumor, the Pacific Mail Steamship Company is still maintaining the tariff rates. The position to the wishes of the international Union.

CHICAGO, III., March 19.—The Leady News's South Bend. Ind., special says: "The settlement of the Studebaker strike is about completed and work will be resumed on Monday.

JAY GOULD EXPRESSES HIS OPINION.
A CONTEST OF A MOB AGAINST LAW-REPLYING TO THE PEOPLE OF GREENVILLE, TEX.
CHARLESTON, S. C., March 19 (Special,—Jay Gould arrived here on his yacht yesterday, on his way home from his cruise among the Windward Islands. He said to-day:

United The Texas Pacific is in the control of the highest court.

the same as the Chicago route rate of the other trunk lines.

Though there has been an apparent suspension of the negotiations for the settlement of the troubles, it is generally expected by the agents of the warring routs that the present conflict will end before long. The Ismes yesterially published the statement that "new vigor was shown in the transcontinental railway war when the Huntimston 'Sunset' route gave notice that it was ready to make contracts at the present cut rates, good for six months." This was denied emphatically by Mr. Neimyer, who is acting for the "Sunset" route in the absence of General Eastern Agent Hawley, who is sick. General Eastern Agent Malcolm, of the Atenhon, Topeks and Santa Fé roud, denied that his road was making time contracts at the present rates, and said that he was prefix sure his road was not foolish enough to do so. At both of the transcontinental offices The Times's story was regarded as a stock-jobbing item.

TRUNK LINES STANDING BY RATES. The trunk line Executive Committee held ar important meeting at Commissioner Fink's office yes-terday, all of the roads being represented. The significance of the conference lay not in what was done, but in the fact that it was, after full discussion, decided that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, has written to Commissioner Fink that his road is not cutting eastbound rates, and that he is resolved to carry out all of its pledges undertaken when the reorganization of the pools was set on foot. There has been much anxiety over the live stock and dressed beef situation. Chicago over the live stock and dressed here situation. Chicago dresses beef shippers, unable to secure concessions from the tariff which went has effect on March 1, have been trying to cause a demonstration by making shipments over one road in preference to the route they would ordinarily use. By disturbing the natural course of this traffic it was hoped that the mesh saw their bushess leaving them would seek to retain or recover it by cutting rates. At yesteriary meeting it was agreed that each tactice should not be allowed to disrupt rates; each company expressed its satisfaction with the existing arrangements for securing a recular distribution of traffic or in the transfer of gross carmings received in excess of the pool regulations should be put into effect.

The west-bound pooling contract was also taken up for discussion and while it was not signed, progress was made in the settlement of details essential to its success.

SEVEN PERSONS HURT BY AN EXPLOSION. PITTSBURG, March 19.-By an explosion of intural gas at Murrayaville, Westmoreland hathrai gas at Murrayaville, Westmoreland County, this afternoon, seven persons were to be the three of them fatality. The explosion was indicated by a fire which destroyed seven useding houses. Those fatality highest are Mrs. Harry Taylor, within Taylor and Sellie Hanked, age fourteen. Of the others lapired three were children of Mrs. Taylor. They were severely burned, but the physicians say they will recover. The explosion was caused by a leak from a main. It seems that the Charliers Gas Company was making connections from the Mewilliams well, lust struck, to their main line. The heavy pressure caused a break in the pipe, and the gas escaping in large volumes soon niled the air and the houses in the vicinity. Before the break could be repaired the gas eaught fire from a grate in the house of Mrs. Taylor, and thus caused the catastrophe.

JUSTICE FOR HONEST MEN.

GOOD REPUTATIONS ENDANGERED. MR. SPOONER'S ARGUMENT ON THE SUPPRESSED PAPERS CONCLUDED.

[BT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE] WASHINGTON, March 19 .- Mr. Spooner spoke for two hours in the Senate to-day in continuation of his argument on the subject of the suppressed papers. He made a number of effective points, and was followed by Senator Saulsbury, whose speech, like all the others on the Democratic side, consisted largely in reading from official documents. Mr. Colquitt took the floor after Mr. Saulsbury finished, but gave way for adjournment Three or four other Senators are yet to speak, and the de bate may continue for several days.

Mr. Spooner did not claim to be an erthodox Civil Service man. He believed an Administration had a right to fill the offices with its friends. This was called the "spoils system," but Mr. Spooner denied it. It was proper, he said, that an Administration should be held responsible for the conduct of the public business, and it should properly feel the weight of that responsibility. What, he asked, was there about politics that should be effensive to the people of the United States? He wanted every man in an honest, proper sense to be a polivice man. He believed an Administration had a right to it should properly feel the weight of that responsibility.

What, he asked, was there about politics that should be offensive to the people of the United States! He wanted every man in an honest, proper sense to be a poliwanted every man in an honest, proper sense to be a politician. He denied that the 10,000,000 voters of this republic could be "dehauched" by the idea of office.
Had it not been for President Cleveland's Civil Service declarations and his expression of a purpose not to remove men who were faithful to their public duties, thousands of office-holders would have resigned. Honest partisanship was honest citizenship. Under the Prosident's idea of "offensive partisanship" the new Democratic office-holders could be embalmed and laid away and their wives allowed to perform the duties of the and their wives allowed to perform the duties of the office, in order that there might be no suggestion that the office-holders could by any possibility be "offensive partisans." [Laughter.] Every man suspended had right to know why he was suspended.

Mr. Spooner read a letter from a suspended official—a response read a letter from a suspended official—a representation of the delivery of the method of the method of the delivery of the method of the del the office-holders could by any possibility be "offensive partisans." [Laughter.] Every man suspended had a right to know why he was suspended.

Mr. Spooner read a letter from a suspended official—a man, he said, who had entered the Mexican Army as a drummer and three away his drum on the nattle-field and Please omit flowers, drummer and threw away his drum on the oattle-field and entered the thick of the fight with a musket in his hand. That man had, in the late war, risen to the grade of Major-General. Suspended by President Cleveland he could not ascertain—nor could Mr. Spooner ascertain for him—whether the charges filed against bim—on the could not ascertain—the charges filed against bim—on the charge of the charges filed against bim—on the charge of the honor or not. Mr. Spoener did not suppose the President meant to submit his fellow-citizens to serious injustice; but the system he had adopted in the matter of suspensions newitably tended to cast a shadow on the honor of honest me. Papers that were held as secret them was in his great the matter of the system had a secret them was in his great the matter of the system had a secret them was in his great the matter of the system had a secret them was in his great that were held as secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had a secret them was in his great that the system had not suppose the present the system had not suppose the present that the system had not suppose the present the system had not suppose the present the system had not suppose the present that the system had not suppose the present that the system had not suppose the present the system had a so on the suppose that the system had a so on the suppose that the system had not suppose the system had a so on the suppose that the system had not suppose the system had no no new legislation was needed to correct the slight ir bonor of honest men. Papers that were held as secret regularities in the rate situation. President Sloan, of te-day might become profile when the person affected by them was in his grave, with no power in his wife or children to disprove their faise allegations.

Mr. Spooner did not desire to see the Administration embarrassed. The man who wished to see the Administration fail was too mean to be taken into account, but some method should be
